05 IMPLEMENTING THE CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY STRATEGY AT MIRABAUD
Mirabaud’s vision, mission and core values, as described below, are at the forefront of all our activities. These aspects have conveyed our Group’s culture since it was founded in 1819 and are also at the heart of our corporate responsibility strategy (CSR).

OUR VISION
At Mirabaud, by drawing on the expertise of our talents and our centuries of experience, we bring added value to our clients and ensure that finance plays a positive role in creating a better, fairer and more equal society.

OUR MISSION
Our mission is to serve our clients responsibly.

MIRABAUD’S CORE VALUES

Independence:
As a family business with two hundred years of experience, we adopt a long-term approach for everything we do; we are entrepreneurs who think in terms of years instead of quarters.

Serving our clients has always been our main focus, so we set objectives that perfectly align with their interests to meet their current and future needs.

Conviction:
We are confident that human talent can make a difference, both in the way we serve our clients and in the way we run our business. We strive to provide our experts with the corporate culture and environment required to showcase their talents, conviction and long-term vision and, above all, to create value for our clients.

Responsibility:
For two hundred years, our company has been passed down from generation to generation and each time it grows stronger and moves with the times. Today, this broader sense of responsibility and sustainability is reflected in our interactions with our clients, employees, brand image and with the wider society in general.

MIRABAUD’S CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY
Mirabaud continues to provide a conviction-based corporate social responsibility strategy that includes its clients and employees and extends to all its other stakeholders. This strategy is steered by a CSR Committee. It is based on four pillars that guide our actions:

I. An economic responsibility strategy intended for clients, the Group’s economic partners and the wider economy;

II. A social responsibility strategy aimed at all Mirabaud Group employees;

III. An environmental responsibility strategy that looks at how natural resources are used and how to protect the environment;

IV. A societal responsibility strategy for communities and the wider society.

Mirabaud’s environmental responsibility is reflected through its consistent consideration of the environment and natural resources in the context of its activities.

Mirabaud is fully aware of the importance of taking today’s environmental issues into account. The alarming trends of climate change and the overconsumption of natural resources affect everyone in society and require an ambitious, collective response. In this respect, Mirabaud plays its part in addressing these issues through various initiatives. Mirabaud is taking steps to significantly reduce its environmental impact and usage of natural resources by improving its daily practices for the Group as a whole.

With the aim of reducing its carbon footprint, Mirabaud measures both its direct and indirect greenhouse gas emissions linked to its electricity consumption, in particular. The Group carries out a comprehensive, quantitative assessment of its carbon footprint before adopting targeted measures to reduce the impact of emissions that arise from its activities. Examples of areas where measures are being implemented include energy supply and optimisation, building insulation and business travel.

In all its subsidiaries and branches, Mirabaud also assumes responsibility for the management of natural resources and waste. Employees are made aware of the importance of optimising resources at the workplace (paper, water, electricity). Facilities are made available for waste to be separated and then recycled.

When it comes to its purchases, Mirabaud seeks to source responsibly. Environmental criteria are consistently taken into account when making purchasing decisions for equipment and services.
